

AGLAEA

sphær

Aglaea, one of the three Graces, seamlessly integrates herself into the elegant repertoire of the CALLIOPE personas. Her vigour resides in the splendour of glowing youthfulness. With an inquisitive sense, she draws her inspiration from the world that envelops her. To observers, Aglaea, artfully forged from elements of coloured glass, natural ceramic, and iron, assumes the form of an ever-changing, capricious figure that constantly transforms from every angle of observation.

MATERIAL & FINISH

Aglaea consists of two pink-pigmented glass spheres that enclose the light body, as well as natural ceramic parts and gold-silver coloured iron tubes, which support and connect the shapes and glass bodies.

Two suspension tubes made of sturdy iron keep the lamp stable and secure, with the length of the suspension being adjustable.
